

Kings Park Civic Association and San Remo Civic Association work together to find the best possible solution to restore Harrison's Pond

Representatives from both the KPCA and the San Remo Civic Association have joined together to find the best possible solution to restore Harrison's Pond. Both civic groups have a long history of working together. KPCA representatives (some who also belong to the San Remo Civic Assn.) are working very hard with local officials and environmental groups to find out what impact rebuilding the old dam and recreating Harrison's Pond would have on both the local community and the Nissequogue River. Reports will be given at both KPCA and San Remo Civic Association meetings.
